WE NOMINATE

Dr. John Finley Williamson, founder and president of Princeton's Westminster Choir College, the only college of its type in the world, that this week completes its second decade of service to American music, American culture and young men and women of outstanding musical talent and ambition. Establishing the Westminster Choir in 1920, while serving as director of music in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Dayton, Ohio, he zoomed to concert stage eminence and six years later, to meet church demand for Williamson-trained choral leaders, brought the Choir College into existence.

A 57-year-old native of Canton, Ohio, Dr. Williamson majored in music at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio, and revealed an unusually fine baritone voice which clearly indicated his future career. But apparent calamity overtook him. A throat operation left his singing voice so impaired that a vocal career seemed impossible. With rare courage, he turned to choral directing and gave to his chosen field the kind of inspiring leadership that led Leopold Stowkowski to describe the Westminster Choir as one of this nation's "greatest cultural and inspirational forces."

With every year bringing new honors to his unique choral group, now selected from the Choir College's undergraduate body, Dr. Williamson has given thousands of concerts in 39 states, 18 foreign countries; has twice been called to the White House; has served as "ambassador of good will" to the Soviet Union at the request of the Soviet Union; and has directed 55 full concerts in 53 days on a coast-to-coast tour. Behind this remarkable chronicle of success stands Dr. Williamson's "best critic and constant inspiration," his wife, Rhea Parlette Williamson, co-founder with her husband of the college and now its active dean.

For using the language of music to bring the finer things in life nearer to the hundreds of thousands of persons who every week sing under Westminster leadership; for recreating the music of the masters as well as encouraging contemporary American composers; for never demanding of others more than he gives of himself; for upholding and insisting upon the kind of Christian character that could solve many of the world's problems; he is TOWN TOPICS' candidate for

Topics of the Town

Food Conservation Progresses. In Alexander Hall Tuesday night at 8:15, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak at a public meeting called to further Princeton's interest in aiding Europe's hungry millions. Sponsoring her appearance here are the mayor and council, the Princeton Committee of the Emergency Food Collection and the ever-active Princeton Chapter No. 1, American Veterans Committee.

Meanwhile, to President Truman and former President Hoover went telegrams this week signed by Mayor Minot C. Morgan, Jr. After outlining the town's current campaign to conserve grains and fats, Mayor Morgan suggested that other communities be urged to follow suit. Here in Princeton, the drive has gone well, will have the double effect of giving Princetonians an easier conscience and Europe a few less hunger pangs.

Barnum Was Right. In the Nassau Sovereign's first issue since 1943 (a fine example, incidentally, of a college magazine at its best) is an advertisement which offers "Loans—Only Your Signature Required." The message continues:

"Easy payments. A loan of $25, for example, may be paid back in ten easy payments of $8.62. Our firm (listed as Almond Bros., Telephone 146), was established in 1638," the reader is carefully informed.

In response to a "filler" advertisement concocted at press time to complete a page, the Sovereign's editors have had several telephone calls from individuals apparently quite willing to pay back $86.20 for a $25 loan.

It's New to Us

Record Albums. Two new releases: "Showboat" and Crosby. Take your pick if you are able to resist buying both. The "Showboat" album offers excerpts from that all-time musical, recorded by the company now playing in the New York revival. In addition to the original Jerome Kern melodies, there are new songs which he composed for the present show, each bearing the ever-charming Kern stamp.

As for Bing, he is better than ever, and combined with the songs of Stephen Foster, his new album is a treat for either Crosby or Foster fans. Those who are both cannot afford to miss it. At The Music Shop, 18 Nassau Street, and Zavelle's on Palmer Square.

Shelf Paper. If you have shopped all over town for this plentiful pre-war commodity which has hardly been seen since, Hinkson's on Nassau Street can solve your problems. What's more, the supply is sufficiently extensive to permit a choice.

Washable paper, 20 inches wide and in rolls of 50 feet, is 75 cents; regular paper is available in a roll 13 inches wide by 25 feet long for 12 cents, or in sheets 24 by 38 at 25 cents per package of 12.

Leg Make-Up. Now is the time, and here is the answer. Chavez leg make-up has all the virtues and, so far as we can see, none of the faults of most of its rivals. It is a stain, rather than a coating of brown, which means that there is nothing to rub off on clothes or furniture; and it is removable only with soap and water.

Available in two shades, which is more choice than is usually possible

Flowers and Bullets. Two teen-aged girls picking flowers on the Province Line Road in Lawrence Township Sunday afternoon unexpectedly came upon signs of sudden and violent death. They discovered the body of one Dominick T. Madeo, 40-year old ex-serviceman whose papers gave a Brooklyn address.

Madeo had been shot in the head, behind the left ear, and tossed from a speeding car in the foggy blackness of Saturday night. It was believed he had been in Trenton earlier in the day, but there were no other clues to tell why gangland's tactics had been perpetrated on the outskirts of Princeton.

Don't Mention It! A puffing undergraduate, bent double beneath a heavy mattress, heard an offer of help as he started to carry it up to the third floor of Holder Hall. When a voice suggested that its owner would be glad to assist, he quickly accepted, although unable to see who the good samaritan was.

Two flights and a few tugs and heaves later, he found out. His amused benefactor was President Dodds.

Miscellany. James R. Blackwood of Mercer Street was one of 17 who received a master of theology degree Tuesday at the 134th annual commencement exercises of Princeton Theological Seminary . . . the Rev. Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Library Place was continued in office as treasurer of the alumni association.

★ The infantile death rate in the United States is very low. From 1934 to 1936 we ranked seventh in the world, led only by New Zealand, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, and Sweden.

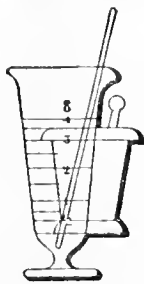

Yet 70,000 infants die annually in the first month of life, and 53,000 more from the second to the twelfth month. How many of these precious infants might have lived had their mothers had adequate prenatal care under the direction of a competent physician?

It is now up to the mothers to take advantage of the knowledge and skill of the physician during the trying months of pregnancy. We are ready to supply the needed dietary supplements and other medication ordered by your physician.

Toy Radios and Victrolas. Zinder's on Nassau Street has these delightful imitations, made to appeal to both eyes and ears of the youngest generation. Music boxes which play gay tunes, and nursery-rhyme characters which parade with the music, are a combination that should make either the radio or victrola intriguing to its small owner for many a day. A worthwhile gift at $7.95.

Original Etchings. At 36 University Place anyone interested in art can find the ideal spot for buying or browsing. Along the former lines, our selection as one of the best buys is a dry-point of Nassau Hall by Samuel Chamberlain. This etching is attractive from a decorative standpoint and artistically successful in capturing the atmosphere of that landmark dear to the hearts of all Princetonians.

Although "Nassau Hall from Chancellor Green" is perhaps the loveliest of the series, there are also other prints of University scenes available for the same surprisingly low price. Whether you are seeking art or gifts, an original signed etching for $5 should provide the answer.

The Playhouse

Heartbeat (Friday, Saturday), starring Ginger Rogers, begins brightly, bogs down suddenly and spends most of the time trying to lift itself up again to its former level. The story is of a light-hearted, light-fingered lady who seeks a gay life in Parisian diplomatic circles but finds principally a rather wordy motion picture.

The Dark Corner (Sunday through Wednesday), with Mark Stevens and Lucille Ball, is a sizzling melodrama about a detective who is framed for murder and sets a hectic pace in trying to figure out the doublecross. Dialogue, musical effects, photography and direction are all top notch.

The Well Groomed Bride (Thursday, Friday, Saturday) is an effort at light humor involving a Navy officer (Ray Milland, who is hunting a bottle of champagne to christen his ship, and an Army bride (Olivia de Havilland) who wants the same commodity to celebrate her husband's return from the Aleutians. The essential spark is almost invariably lacking.

The Garden

Murder in the Music Hall (Friday, Saturday) is a satisfactory crime story about a ballerina whose former producer meets an evil end shortly after she has been with him. Vera Hruba Ralston and William Marshall are in this whodunit.

Bedlam (Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday) is more than just another Boris Karloff horror story, for it presents in dramatic and yet thoughtful fashion the problem of proper treatment for the insane. The 18th century English institution from which the film derives its name makes a striking setting for the picture.

Rainbow over Texas (Thursday, Friday, Saturday) brings another Roy Rogers musical western to Princeton, this one with Dale Evans. They've been going well here, with adults even more than the younger element.
